FAT BOY'S DIET

Proper Diet Will Make You Slim Always

By ELMER WHEELER

I have often heard my fat friends say, "Yeah, I lost 20 pounds last summer, but I gained it back."

"How come?" I asked my doc.

He told me that you must remain your reduced size and weight for at least three months, to get your body adjusted to the new weight and size.

After that, chances of going back up are at a minimum.

This merely means that after three months your system says, "I guess old Fatty is sincere this time. Okay, Fatso, you win. Maybe we better adjust our metabolism to the New Look."

So if you go on a 1,500-calorie diet for two months and go down 20 or so pounds, I found that soon you can be eating almost as much as before and still remain at the new lowered weight.

Dieting isn't something that must be too permanent.

Your metabolism is now adjusted to your new weight. It goes up slightly when you overeat, and so protects you from overweight. It goes down slightly when you don't eat as much as you should.

If you go back to overeating, it does this for a time—but like a rubber band, if you overdo the idea, it will soon fail to bounce back. It gets tired burning up the extra foods.

Nope—dieting need not be permanent. It's like having a good wife: If you want to hang into her, you keep one eye always cocked slightly to watch her! Just watch your diet the same way.

Another thing I learned was that it takes about 20 calories every time you eat a meal. That is, 20 calories of energy to eat and digest that meal.

The movements of your arms shoving in food, your munching molars, your digestive organs, burn up some 20 calories.

Eating a 300-calorie piece of apple pie may use up 20 calories, but you're still 280 on the fatty side.

Celery is 5 calories. Eat a good, tough, stringy stalk of celery, burn up 20 calories doing it—and you've spent 15 calories digesting it.

Lac la Biche Hotel To Change Hands

LAC LA BICHE—Negotiations have been conducted for the sale of the Lac la Biche Hotel by the present owners, Gordichuk and Temchuk, to a group of five interested parties from Spruce Valley and Edmonton. The prospective buyers are Andrew Firchuk, Nick Weleschuk, William Bubun and Steve and Fred Pysyk.

Application for beer license has been made and as soon as arrangements have been completed, the hotel will be in new hands. It is understood the Hotel Cafe will be taken over by the new management Dec. 1. The transfer of the hotel proper should follow shortly afterwards.

Mr. William Gordichuk and son Walter purchased the hotel in 1950 from Steffin and Company. In partnership with George Temchuk they have been operating the business efficiently. Mrs. Gordichuk has taken over the management of the Hotel Coffee shop. Now both weary of the business world, Mr. and Mrs. Gordichuk decided to take a long holiday and catch up on their relaxation.

Since their arrival here from Wellington, the Gordichuks have become very much a part of the community. Walter married a local girl, Miss Patricia Bozak, from Imperial Mills just last June. He has been a member of the Lions club here for some time. Mrs. Gordichuk was an active member of the Women's Bowling League last season, and her youngest son, Allen, attends the Lac la Biche public school.

David Gordichuk is the only member of the family who has not spent much time in Lac la Biche. He is at present playing with the Moose Jaw Canucks Junior Hockey team, and has been away from home a great deal both this year and last through his hockey activities.

Lac la Biche Now Local Headquarters For Provincial Dept. Highways

LAC LA BICHE—Lac la Biche is now district headquarters for the Provincial Government Road Equipment used in the Local Improvement District. From now on all road equipment, including snow plows, maintainers and tractors will be kept in Lac la Biche.

Previously this equipment was kept at St. Paul. Mr. Harry Lobay, M.L.A. for Lac la Biche stated that sometime in the future it is planned to establish a repair and overhaul shop in Lac la Biche.

The cache is presently situated just across the C.N.R. tracks south of the town.

Urge Attendance At School Meeting

FLAMONDON—The local school meeting will soon be here. Watch for the dates, and turn out to show your parental interest.

Absentees can blame no one but themselves if policies are invoked which do not meet with their favor.

Your children's education is a most important factor. Education is the foundation of today's society, and in these days we cannot do without it.

Make it a point—check the dates—and attend your meeting.

Arthur Bosse Hurt In Car Accident

BRIEREVILLE—Icy road conditions were blamed for an accident involving a Briereville man last week. Mr. Arthur Bosse was taken to St. Catherine's hospital in Lac la Biche with three ribs broken, when his car skidded and overturned. His two passengers escaped injury.

MUNICIPALITIES TO GET MORE PROVINCIAL AID

News of bigger Provincial Government grants and a commission to study means of giving school divisions and municipal districts a common boundary to iron out local administrative difficulties, was given to the 250 delegates attending the annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts by C. E. Gerhart, the Minister of Municipal Affairs.

The convention was held at the Palliser Hotel in Calgary, November 19, 20 and 21.

The convention passed a resolution favoring the appointment of a commission with representatives which will include members of the School Trustees' Association and the Municipal District Association.

The present system complicates the giving of government grants as some municipal districts have parts of three or four school divisions in its area, and varying tax rates makes the apportionment of equalization grants difficult.

Mr. Gerhart promised the municipal districts there will be a 20 to 25 per cent increase in grants next year because of the increased revenue from gasoline taxes. If the weather continues well, there may be as much as $9,000,000 in the fund and the municipalities might get a 30 per cent increase.

Mr. Gerhart further outlined a method of taxing the mobile drilling equipment, whereby the government will collect the tax on half of the municipality, the monies being later turned over to the municipality.

The scheme was to eliminate the possibility of drilling rigs being missed on assessment.

R. C. Harrison, President of the Western Canada Petroleum Association, told the convention that oil companies carrying on exploration work in the province want to pay the proper taxes due to the respective municipalities and will repair any damage to roads and property.

Mr. Harrison said, "The industry knows it cannot get along unless it plays ball. We do not want to be discriminated against, nor do we want to go tax free."

Speaking on this question, Mr. Wheatley of Chancellor said there might be difficulties in assessment, and a great deal of study was needed before any decision was made, and he moved that no action be taken until next year. The matter was tabled.

The executive committee was asked to consider requesting the Combines Commission to investigate the sale of commercial fertilizers. The cost per ton of commercial fertilizers has risen from $55 a ton to about $100 a ton.

It was discovered, however, that even in larger quantities, the fertilizers could not be obtained much cheaper. The manufacturer apparently sets the price according to Mr. Charles P. Hayes of Strome, the president of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts.

Other resolutions passed at the meeting asked that:

The government have a survey or available to municipal districts for taking care of drainage problems;

The government was asked to return all monies received as surface rights privileges to the municipalities, on mineral leases in the municipal districts;

The allowance payable to councillors for council meetings, supervision or committee work, be raised from $8 to $10 a day;

The federal minister of agriculture be asked to attempt to have the United States re-open its border for the import of livestock and processed meats;

The Self-Liquidating Projects Act be amended to include borrowings for the purchase of road machinery by municipalities;

Grants to rural schools be increased by 50 per cent; and provincial government ask for a federal, provincial, municipal conference to consider a plan for providing greater federal and provincial contributions to education costs.

Minor Blast In Hotel Coffee Shop

ATMORE—The Atmore Hotel coffee shop has had the misfortune to lose three plate glass windows when their propane cook stove blew up.

Though the coffee shop was full at the time, there being 15 patrons and four employees in the building, no one was hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Armand Dupre are the new managers of the hotel coffee shop.

NEW GIFT SHOP OFFERS VARIETY CHRISTIAN LITERATURE

A new supply centre for religious materials, gifts and greetings has been opened to supply the special needs of the public in this field by the Gospel Supplies and Recordings Limited. The new shop is located at 10246 101 St. To be popularly known as a gift and greeting shop, it will feature a full line of popular Court's greeting cards, writing supplies, recordings, books, pictures and novelties, all of interest to the general public.

Of particular interest to those wanting religious supplies will be the collection of religious recordings, sacred music in sheets and book form, religious books and tracts, and Sunday School and pastor's supplies.

The new store is a development of the merchandising department that was operated in conjunction with the Heaven and Home Hour, a daily religious program heard over Alberta radio stations, which has been under the direction of C. A. Sawtell.

Expansion of the business done by the merchandising department made new and larger quarters necessary and early this year a group of 25 Christian businessmen was organized to back the opening of the shop. The operation of the store now will be independent of the Heaven and Home Hour though the two will work closely together in many of their functions.

Manager of the store will be Harold F. Nelson, an RCAF veteran who has made his home in Edmonton for the last seven years.

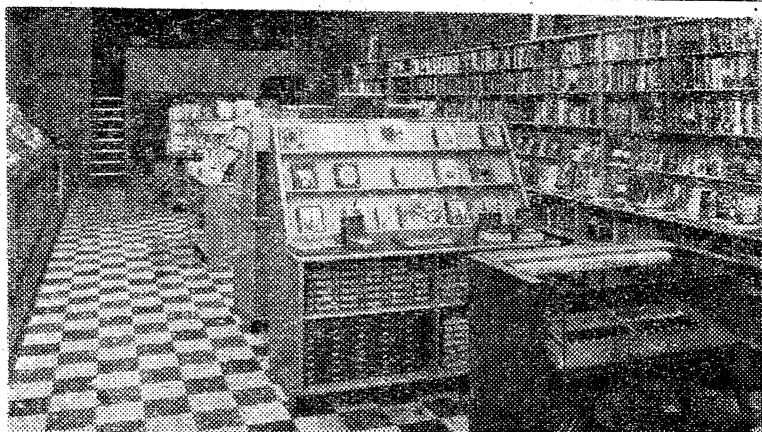

A studio is being constructed in the rear of the store, where, it is planned, the Heaven and Home broadcasts eventually will originate. It is being made large enough to accommodate frequent visitors to the program from city and rural points.

It will be used also as a recording studio for anyone who wishes to make personal recordings.

The studio is being arranged so that it may be used as a motion picture projection room for 16 mm. films that will be stocked for sale or rental purposes. All the films stocked will be of a religious or educational nature.

It is planned that a second store will be opened on the south side late next year.

The interior of the store has been completely re-finished. The north wall has been covered with a reddish-hued wallpaper in the Inverness plaid and the south wall is pastel green. An off-white ceiling reflects the light of the fluorescent fixtures running the full 60 feet of the store area, casting a uniform brightness over the store and stock.

Quiet organ music played through one of the finest high-fidelity combination radio and record players creates a pleasing background for shoppers in the store.

Offices for the Heaven and Home Hour also will be located at the rear of the store where they will be close to the centre of the city convenient for visitors.

HAROLD F. NELSON

C. A. SAWTELL, director of the Heaven and Home Hour, broadcast daily over Alberta radio stations, also is a director of the new Gospel Supplies and Recordings Ltd., located at 10246 101 St. Manager of the gift and greeting shop will be Harold F. Nelson, an RCAF veteran who was born and raised near Wetaskwin and who has made his home in Edmonton for the past seven years. He will be assisted in the store by a staff of five.

658 Grain Cars a Day Being Moved By C.P.R.

WINNIPEG—Canadian Pacific Railway's grain movement is close to a hundred cars per day better than last year, it was revealed Wednesday by D. S. Thomson, vice-president of the Prairie region at Winnipeg, as he released transportation figures from the start of the new crop year on August 1 to date.

This year 56,611 cars have been loaded at CPR country stations from August 1 to date for a daily average of 658 cars, compared to 484,635 cars for a daily average of 565 cars for the same period last year.

"Since the first of November we have loaded an average of 789 cars per day and are aiming at still heavier loading," Thomson said, as he congratulated his road's operating men and other grain handlers on the performance.

At the Lakehead the CPR has 2,055 cars on track ready for unloading and 2,996 cars on the way there, he said. He had high praise for the tremendous job the elevator companies are doing at the Lakehead in the unloading of cars.

Imperial Bank
 Deposits Grow
 By $55,000,000

Increased earnings of the Imperial Bank of Canada for the year ended October 31, 1952, were largely offset by increased taxes so that net-profits after normal write-offs were only slightly higher than a year ago. Profits after depreciation, but before provision for taxes, amounted to $2,649,996, as compared with $2,386,400 in 1951. After taxes of $1,331,000, compared with $1,150,000, net profits for the year under review amounted to $1,318,996, or $1.88 a share, compared with $1,236,400, or $1.77 a share, for the previous year.

Dividends amounting to $980,000 were paid during the year and a special write-off of $200,000 on bank premises was provided, leaving a balance of $138,996 to be carried forward. The total balance forward is now $1,214,741.

Total assets increased by nearly $51,000,000 during the year to $586,540,603. Current loans are up $13,000,000 to $233,848,897. Call loans increased moderately to $7,209,511. Government of Canada bonds due in less than two years were up about $39,000,000 at $92,595,589, while other Canada bonds are down about $13,000,000 to $104,770,082.

Interest-bearing deposits made a record gain of $27,000,000 to $319,453,673. Deposits not bearing interest also grew substantially, up nearly $14,000,000 to $182,860,454. Deposits by provincial governments amounted to $30,764,691 and government of Canada deposits to $6,714,819, making the total of all deposits $539,793,637, a gain of about $55,000,000 during the year.

Quick assets are now 58 per cent of total liabilities to the public and loans of all kinds are 44 per cent of total deposits.

"ONE OF 15 MILLION"

SOVIET SLAVE CAMP
STORY SPINE-CHILLING

By VAN ALLEN BRADLEY

Literary Editor of the Chicago Daily News

Of all the reports on the Soviet slave labor camps that I have seen in the last few years, Nicholas Prychodko's "One of the 15 Million," just published, is the most spine-chilling and perhaps the most convincing.

It rates a place alongside Jerzy Gliksman's "Tell the West!" in the shelf of literature exposing the Communist war on human freedom.

Prychodko is a Ukrainian who was a lad of 13 when the tide of Red revolution engulfed Russia. Most of his life, therefore, has been spent under the shadow of communism.

The true meaning of the Bolshevik terror became known to him when the Communist secret police, the dreaded NKVD, came knocking on his door to question him, torture him and pack him off to Siberia.

Rage fills the pages of this book—the rage of a man now liberated, for Mr. Prychodko is one of those rare men who lives in freedom in Canada.

Long before the fateful visit of the secret police, the young Prychodko had learned to dread the Soviet masters. He had every reason for his fears.

For one thing, both his grandfathers had been Greek Orthodox priests. For another, his father, who owned 25 acres of land, was a kulak in the eyes of Reds, and besides he was a supporter of the church.

"COUNTER - revolutionary activity" was the charge with which Prychodko was arrested and thrown into a stuffy little cell which he describes in horrible detail.

"There was hardly standing room, let alone a place to sit or sleep . . . To slake the thirst of 132 persons, all we got was a six-gallon iron bucket of water in the evening . . . When we were out for exercise I glanced at my fellow-prisoners. They looked like illusory, skinny, wax skeletons . . ."

When he refused to confess, his captors beat him with the leg of a chair. The brutality used against some of his cellmates was even worse.

Finally, in November, 1939, he was packed into a freight car, headed for Siberia—with 41 other prisoners. For more than two years he labored in the lumber camps, despairing of freedom, one of thousands of "silent slaves with desolate souls."

THROUGH the intervention of his mother, who succeeded in reaching President Kalinin, his 10-year sentence was reduced to three.

Permitted to return to the Ukraine, Prychodko fled when Hitler attacked, for fear he might again be sent into the Siberian forests.

The story of his ordeal is a warning to free men everywhere.

Lac la Biche Feels Elevator Need

By HENRY THOMPSON

RICH LAKE—The one elevator at Lac la Biche for an area this large, is a serious drawback to business in the whole area. Shortly after the grain was threshed this one elevator was plugged or very choosy about the kind or grade of grain they would receive. Farmers over the area are organizing to rectify this long overdue deficiency, by petitioning another company to build sufficient space to take care of at least 50 per cent of production in reasonable time.

A large amount of Rich Lake and Helena grain is going south over a longer distance, bad hills and rough roads, in order to meet some of their obligations, with consequent loss in paying higher hauling charges.

RUFER CASE SHOWS NEED OF NATIONAL HEALTH PLAN

By ADA NEWCOMBE

In the University hospital there lies paralyzed by a bullet in his neck, a victim of a robbery at Gainford on June 30th. Rudolph Rufer was stricken while peacefully doing his regular tasks in his garage business there, and has now for five months been helpless—his business gone and his health apparently ruined. If the bullet had passed an inch or two to the side, his widow would have received an allowance. If the bullet had exploded near his eyes he would have received the pension for the blind, but because he is only paralyzed from the waist down, he is entitled to none of these things. Society "passes by on the other side."

In order for Mr. Rufer to get the expensive treatment in a Montreal hospital required, to perhaps enable him to regain some measure of health, the Edmonton Elk Club is trying to raise the thousands of dollars needed. Any bank will accept and forward donations to this worthy cause.

In the past 25 years, there have been great advances made in the agencies at work for the care of the sick and injured, but never can we be fully satisfied until there is available free for all full National Health Service. It will be said, of course, that it will cost too much, perhaps 500 million a year, but does anyone suppose that this can be higher in cost than the same service would cost under our present system? The "Blue Cross" and other agencies perform a fine service, but there are none of these that will act without some assurance of a profit, which makes all such privately conducted plans cost more than a National Health scheme. The difference is that the costs are distributed evenly over the entire population at cost, and is complete and universal. Even now, in some parts of Canada, the savings of a lifetime are dissipated in a few weeks by hospital and doctor's care.

Any denial of full and complete health benefits to all citizens, is at the same time a denial also of our claim to being a Christian civilization. It is surely not necessary to prove that in that Kingdom on Earth, which the Master of Men made the centre of his teaching was "sharing," "each shall bear another's burden," the Welfare State of which He spoke, Toynbee says is rapidly coming into being.

We will have a chance in the coming Federal election of insisting that at least one feature of it shall be made actual and real in Canada in a National Health Plan. We individually can contribute, as in Mr. Rufer's case, but the work in the end, must be done collectively, by the State or Nation.

Each generation can add, initiate and establish in the government of the country, laws which must improve the environment and living standards and ways of life under which the following generation can rejoice and live a little more securely and freely from the slavery of unsatisfied needs.

We can without doubt eventually rise to the standard where each shall share equally in the abundance fully available in our rich land. In the meantime, let us remember Mr. Rufer's present need and send our cheque to the Elks Club, 9030 Jasper Avenue, or through your bank.

Total number of pelts landed at St. John's, Nfld., from the 1952 seal hunt was 85,245 compared with 184,000 in 1951.

The fine paper industry occupies an important place in the economy of Canada. Prior to the turn of the century much fine paper was imported from England and the United States. Today Canada's fine paper mills export to almost all parts of the world.

Today there's a NEW revenue crop in Alberta

Without seeding, cultivating or crop rotating, hundreds of Alberta farmers are receiving revenue today from a new crop -- the well heads through which a vital stream of oil is being pumped into our economy.

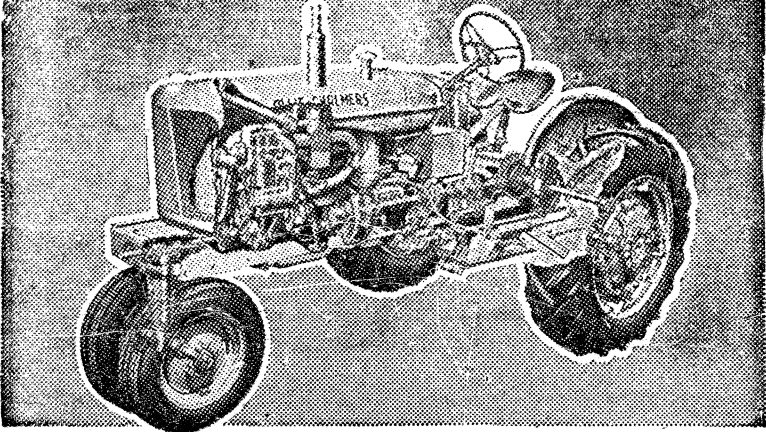

To date, the oil industry has paid Alberta farmers millions of dollars for well locations, which occupy on the average only about four acres. Oil company payments to farmers for surface use in the Leduc field, for instance, average $1,340 the first year and $431 for each subsequent year for each well location. To the farmer who has four wells on a quarter section this represents an income of more than $37,000 during the life of the wells.

And even if a dry hole results, the farmer receives at least the first year's rental.

This is another illustration of how oil is bringing increased prosperity to Alberta.

Time To Think About Seed

Harvesting is over and now is the time for the farmer to think about the seed he will use to sow his crops this coming spring. Every farmer, I suggest, would be well advised to follow the practice now adopted by so many, of planting a Seed Field on his farm. This can be done by making arrangements to purchase a few bushels of the best seed obtainable of wheat, oats, barley or flax, and by sowing this on a field of clean summerfallow.

The yield from such a Seed Field would give sufficient seed next year to sow 16 to 20 times the acreage. Registered Seed is the very best obtainable; it is true-to-variety to a high standard of excellence, is of high germination and practically free from adulterants.

The use of Registered Seed results in higher yields and a higher quality crop. Farmers desirous of purchasing Registered Seed should place their orders as early as possible this fall. Then they will have the first choice of the best seed available.

Damage From 2,4-D

Wheat crops sprayed with 2,4-D herbicide by airplanes have been seriously damaged according to reports from Drumheller and Dalemead. Many of the heads were only half filled. Provincial and dominion pathologists are investigating.

No damage was done to wheat on the same farms which was treated with ground sprayers. It is believed that the oil used in the spray from the airplane might have been responsible for the damage. Ground spraying machines use water mixed with the 2,4-D.

You Should Relax

Most people don't relax enough. They work, eat and live at high tension, hurrying more than is necessary or good for their health. Their blood pressure is raised, the pulse rate accelerated and the temperature elevated. Such strain wears out the body's organs sooner than necessary. The most common results of undue and prolonged stress are high blood pressure, dyspepsia, nervous indigestion and fatigue. Living normally, eating wisely and having sufficient rest will help to prevent many of the ailments that accompany middle age and later years. By relaxing—and it isn't necessary to have equipment, special time or training, since you can actually relax mind and muscles for a few minutes at any time — you give your body some release from the tensions of work.

The 1951 census reported Alberta's population at 939,501. As the provincial area is 255,285 square miles the population density is 3.68 persons per square mile.

Henry Young, president of the Alberta Farmers' Union, says the reduction on hog prices to $23.00 on January 1, 1953, will bring the value of a hog down to $30.00, which is about the cost of production. He suggests farmers should cut production.

The Wall Street Journal recently stated in reference to Canada's big wheat crop—"A lot of that mountain of grain can be expected to land in the taxpayers' lap via government price support." The Calgary Albertan points out that the Wall Street Journal is wrong. Wheat has cost the Canadian taxpayer nothing for many years.

The United States will make about 50 million bushels of wheat available to Pakistan this year, probably through finances of its Technical Co-operation Administration. Pakistan normally imports some wheat but will require more than normal this year because its crop has been severely damaged by drought.

Insurance --- To Churchgoers Only

An insurance company in Texas is experimenting with a plan of issuing insurance policies to church members and those who practice abstinence from alcohol. The company has attracted considerable attention in recent days because of this novel plan, with more than 1,000 policies already sold.

The Christian and Temperate Insurance Company, which received its charter in June, is the brainchild of two brothers, members of different churches, who say their policy is the result of two years of planning and studying automobile fatality records.

From their study, they arrived at a plan to offer insurance to church members and non-drinkers at reduced rates — since people in these classifications have fewer accidents than non-church members and those who do not practice abstinence. This plan warrants serious thought, since it offers a reward to those groups who are involved in few accidents.

It has often been suggested that insurance be sold on the basis of one's driving record. That is, an applicant who had driven for 20 or 30 years without an accident would receive a low insurance rate, while the habitually careless driver would be required to pay higher insurance rates. This system would reward good drivers and require inferior and careless drivers to pay more of the cost of their accidents.

As it is, good drivers are usually required to pay just as much for insurance as poor drivers, who regularly are involved in accidents, and the steady rise in automobile insurance rates has brought about complaints from careful drivers.

While the Christian and Temperate Insurance Company, in Texas, might be drawing the line of qualification rather tightly, the motive behind their plan is sound and it will be interesting to see how cheaply they are able to sell automobile insurance and still make a reasonable profit.

ONE MAN'S VIEWPOINT

The Community Paper

By STAN ROSS

As one travels about the province of Alberta it is amazing to find the number of local community papers which are being published, but it is not always quite so clear that these local papers are being appreciated in the way that they should be appreciated. Possibly it's the old case of taking what you have for granted. Sometimes it's a mistaken notion that because a paper is smaller, or because it only publishes once a week, that it can't be as valuable as a daily edition.

It's true that a weekly paper can't provide daily news. It's also true that the radio reaches every community with news and factual material in a way which no newspaper can possibly do. But it is equally true that the community newspapers are the only means for circulating news, community projects and community ideas, and those things are more valuable than many people seem to think.

Actually you might obtain all the world news and ideas there are, but you'd still have poor communities if there was no method for stirring up community thought and interest concerning community matters. You could also be cut off from every item of world news and still you could have the best of communities if you possessed a good local newspaper—and that's the function your town weekly will fill if it is given a chance.

Look at it another way. It's all very well for you people outside of Edmonton to hear our ideas about everything, but after all each community needs to know about a few of its own ideas—and a weekly editor is the only one in a position to reflect the local ideas about many things. He's in touch with his own district. He knows its needs and the local feelings which may differ from district to district. He's in the best position to whip up local opinion—and he's in the best position to fight the local battles.

In other words, these local weeklies aren't simply a printed sheet: they are an institution — as important as any other item in our community life, and as such should be recognized and used — and supported.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

There are two young men who are in love with me and I like them both very much. In fact, I am perfectly happy when I am with either one of them. They have both asked me to marry them but I have not been able to decide. I really believe I would be happy with either one. I am twenty-one years old and think it is about time for me to make up my mind, don't you?

ANNABELLE.

Answer:

You are not truly in love with either of these young men, Annabelle, if you like one as well as you do the other. My surmise is that you really like both of them very much as friends but that you aren't in love with either.

Wait a while and don't try to decide in a hurry. Twenty-one is not old, and perhaps the right man hasn't come along yet. It may be that after a while you will find that you do love one of these with whom you are now going.

Do not make up your mind until you feel that life won't be worth living if you can't have that particular young man as your husband.

Marriage is a sacred contract and should be considered a binding lifetime bond.

LOUISA.

A.M.A. Protests High Federal Car Taxes

EDMONTON—President H. R. Chauncey of Calgary claimed recently that the federal government collected $144,000,000 from car owners through tax levies in the past year. He suggested that the A.M.A. initiate strong representations to federal authorities to protest the "excessive" federal taxation of car owners.

My son's fifth birthday was approaching. In one of my weaker moments I asked him what he'd like for his birthday. Without any hesitation he shouted, "a bicycle." Knowing that he was far too young for a bicycle I purchased him a tricycle. (Incidentally he had had one before). On his birthday he didn't seem to be disappointed with his present, so I thought that he had forgotten all about the bicycle.

It was hours later when he was sitting by the tricycle by himself that I overheard him say: "Gee whiz! imagine a big man like daddy not knowing the difference between a bicycle and a tricycle."

Noting an unusual curio cabinet at my mother-in-law's, I remarked upon its great beauty and how I wished that I had one like it. "Oh," she replied, "I'll leave it to you when I die." "Oh, how wonderful!" I exclaimed unthinkingly, "I can hardly wait!"

Cattlemen More Than Pleased With Embargo Lifting By United States

OTTAWA — Canada's multi-million dollar cattle industry was heartened with the sudden news that the United States would lift its cattle embargo on March first.

The news came as a surprise to Canadian Agricultural officials, and it took a number of telephone calls to Stanley Woodward, the United States ambassador, to assure federal officials that the United States were quite serious about the embargo lift.

Even after the phone calls Dr. J. G. Taggart, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, would not comment. Agriculture Minister Gardiner would not comment either, even after he was read a despatch carrying the announcement.

In Edmonton Alberta Minister of Agriculture said: "There won't be a livestock man in the whole of Canada who won't be pleased to hear the news."

The president of the Winnipeg Livestock Exchange said the lifting of the embargo will benefit both producer and consumer.

Why the Washington announcement came as a surprise to Canadian officials is not known, for the two countries usually work closely on economic matters. Canadian embassy officials in Washington were informed before the press statement was made, and apparently this press report reached Ottawa first.

Dominion Agriculture officials have been pessimistic of any move made until the Republican administration took over in January.

Canadian farms are loaded with livestock, and the Canadian government has taken big losses with its price support program, which it plans to maintain until the embargo is lifted.

Lifting of the embargo will end the upheaval caused by the outbreak of hoof-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan in February in 1951. In August of this year Canada was declared free from the disease.

How The Town Received Its Name BARONS

The village of Barons is the headquarters of the M.D. of Barons which covers an area of 340,000 acres of land. The area was settled in 1907 by homesteaders, but the big rush of settlers came in 1909 when the railway was being put up through Kipp. The following year saw the opening of the railroad between Lethbridge and Carmangay.

Barons is located some 30 miles north-west of Lethbridge,

Sponsored by the following companies: Federal, Alberta Pacific, Pioneer, Canadian Consolidated, Patterson McCabe, Parrish & Heimbecker, Inter Ocean, Independent, Ellison Milling, Canada West and Quaker Oats.

Is Your Seed True-To-Variety

Each year, during the last 12 years (1941-52), the Line Elevators Farm Service field-tested hundreds of farmers' seed stocks of wheat and barley to find out if they were "true" or "pure" to variety. The results obtained in 1951 and 1952 are shown in the following table:

Crop and year seed sown	Seed samples tested	Percentage of samples
		"Pure" as to variety	"Impure" as to variety
WHEAT
1951	1,778	84.8	15.2
1952	1,446	84.2	15.8
BARLEY
1951	453	73.0	27.0
1952	445	72.8	27.2

These figures show that 15% and 27% of the seed stocks of wheat and barley, respectively, held by prairie farmers for planting in 1951 and 1952 were not satisfactorily true-to-variety. As a matter of fact, over one-half of the seed samples listed as "Impure" in the above table were very badly mixed as to variety. When grown, they produced a high percentage of foreign, inferior and off-type plants.

Planting seed-grain of mixed varieties and kinds results in uneven ripening, lower yields and poorer grades. On the other hand, by using seed which is true-to-variety, prairie grain growers can assure themselves of a crop of the highest possible yield and quality.

Is your seed true-to-variety? If not, it will pay you to exchange it for some "pure" seed and by far the safest bet is Registered seed. Large quantities of Registered seed are available this year, and prices are reasonable. Any elevator agent will take your order for Registered seed.

$1 for BRIGHT SAYINGS

The Editor will pay $1.00 for each child's saying printed. To qualify, item must be true, personal remarks of child known to the writer. Address "Bright Sayings," P.O. Box 4368, South Edmonton.

While staying at my aunt's farm, my aunt's grandmother came for a visit. During her stay she made a rug. When measuring cloth for the rug she always put the cloth to her nose and measured it at arm's length.

My cousin who is only six years old watched with interest. The next day he came running to her with a piece of rope and said, "Grannie, smell this and see how long it is."

BANG'S DISEASE OF CATTLE

No. 6 in a series by Dr. E. A. Ballantyne, Director of Veterinary Services, Alberta Department of Agriculture.

Every cattleman should know how Bang's Disease is spread, because if it is introduced into a clean herd he may lose practically a whole calf crop. Losing even 10 calves will mean at least $3,000 less in income two years later at present day prices. Very few cattleman can stand a loss like that. But it can happen and has happened in Alberta. In fact, one cattleman estimated that his income was $15,000 less a couple of years ago on account of Bang's Disease in his herd.

Bang's disease is usually "bought and paid for." That is, it is usually introduced into a herd by buying a diseased animal. This can be prevented by having herd additions blood tested first by your veterinarian. After the purchase of a Bang's infected animal, the disease over a period of several months usually spreads through the herd causing many abortions. Not every cow or heifer will necessarily lose its calf, because some seem to have a natural resistance. Abortion storms in which a high percentage of cows lose calves are fairly common. The dangerous period is when an infected cow aborts, because the fluids, premature calf and afterbirth are loaded with Bang's disease bacteria. Other cows or heifers licking or eating this can become infected. This is why cows at calving time should be put in a box stall so that if the cow is infected others will not have a chance to pick up the bacteria. The afterbirth, premature calf, bedding, etc., should be buried deeply or burnt so that other cows cannot eat it. When the cow is taken out in two or three weeks the box stall should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. An infected bull will spread the disease occasionally, but very seldom. It is spread mainly as explained above.

Your veterinarian is trained in Bang's disease diagnosis, prevention and control, so please consult him when premature calves are born. An ounce of prevention is still worth a pound of cure. REMEMBER, too, that Bang's disease causes undulant fever in humans. Contact him to vaccinate your calves or list them with your District Agriculturist or Agriculture Service Board.

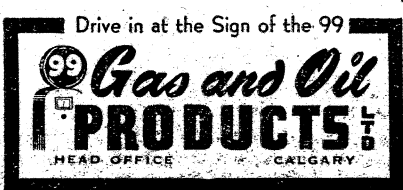

The Alberta Department of Agriculture recommends calfhood vaccination coupled with good herd management as an economical and practical way to prevent and control the disease. The co-operation of all cattlemen will be greatly appreciated in building up Bang's resistant herds by having all heifer calves vaccinated this fall.

Canadian Assoc. Of Consumers Is Boon To Homemakers

LAC LA BICHE — In her address to the Women's Institute at Lac La Biche recently, Mrs. W. E. Stewart told of the work of the Canadian Association of Consumers, and how the Association works to the benefit of the homemaker.

The Canadian Association of Consumers is a national organization created and sponsored by Canada's leading women's organizations in 1947 to represent the Canadian consumer.

CAC is voluntary, non-sectarian and non-political. CAC has more than 13,000 individual members from all provinces; in addition, fifteen national organizations representing 500,000 women, participate in the work of CAC.

Membership is open to every woman in Canada for an annual fee.

CAC can and does tell consumers what they should know for their protection and wise buying.

CAC can and does tell governments what kind of laws consumers want for their protection.

CAC can and does tell the manufacturer what the consumer finds wrong with his product.

CAC functions through a growing network of provincial and local branches; through national organizations whose liaison officers keep their members informed; through conferences with government, trade, industry and agriculture; through CAC Bulletin issued regularly to members; through press releases, radio, talks, and speakers' panels.

Consumers should not feel they are just housewives but, in reality, are homemakers. All are working for the standard of living to be raised, and if the standard of quality is to be raised in products and clothing all should think about buying and look at prices and quality—if anything is wrong with an item take it back to your dealer and he can send it back to retailer, then retailer sends it to manufacturer. Only then the manufacturers know consumers aren't satisfied with the product. They don't have to be satisfied with poor quality.

CAC is now working on standardization of women's and children's clothing. Sizes to be standardized by being sold by measurements and not size, as individuals vary so as to size.

Mrs. Stewart told of instances of talking to groups with complaints such as clothes shrinking, losing shape and fit, poor belts on women's dresses, and quality of nylons, etc.

Various leaflets were given out to all who attended.

Watch for weights on soaps and detergents. It was enforced that by the new year all brands should have weight marked.

Anyone wishing to get a CAC membership, get in touch with Mrs. S. Hamar, WI advertising convener.

During 1951 about 53,000 horses were eaten as horse meat in the United Kingdom.

GEORGE PRUDHAM OUTLINES HOW FEDERAL POLICIES EFFECT ALBERTA

Gives Radio Talk On "HOW ALBERTA BENEFITS FROM FEDERAL POLICIES"

In a fifteen minute radio broadcast, Hon. George Prudham, federal member for Edmonton West and Alberta's minister in the federal cabinet, gave a brief outline of how federal government policies affected and benefited Alberta. Commenting that now that the Alberta provincial election was a thing of the past, he felt free to "review some of the achievements and activities in Alberta of the federal government."

The radio talk continues: "My remarks in this connection are not meant to be controversial. We are all Albertans and proud of the fact. At the same time we are citizens of Canada. As such we are all seriously interested in federal affairs, and I know that you are interested in what the federal government is accomplishing in this province.

"The purpose of my talk this evening is to review some of the functions of the federal government as these relate to Alberta, and as they affect each one of us.

"I have seen a good many Alberta people this summer, but it has proved physically impossible to do all that I would like to do. In addition to dealing with problems of constituents, it is necessary for me to administer the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys. This is a relatively new department of federal government, having been re-organized only three years ago as a separate department. Because of these continuing responsibilities I have not been able to see as many people personally as I would like to do. That is why I am speaking to you tonight.

"As you know, the facilities of all departments of government concerned with resources development are being strained to the limit at this time in order to meet the demands connected with Canada's rapid, nation-wide expansion. I know that you understand the situation and can share with me the satisfaction that goes with the administration of a great department of government so directly and vitally concerned with Canada's growth as Mines and Technical Surveys.

"In this brief talk it would not be wise for me to try to cover the whole field of federal activity in Alberta. But let us consider together some of the major items:

"First of all there is the matter of the annual federal subsidy and the payments under the dominion-provincial agreements. The extent of this help is not generally realized.

"It is estimated that the total amount of federal subsidy to Alberta for the fiscal year 1952-53 will be 28 million dollars. This subsidy represents, in itself, approximately one quarter of the entire budget of the province. In other words, the federal government is collection agent for approximately one-quarter of the money that the Alberta government spends.

"If we add to this the 26 million the Dominion government spends directly in this province covering family allowances, old age and blind persons' pensions, we have a total of 54 million dollars. These federal expenditures are benefiting every citizen of Alberta, and constitute each year far greater amounts than the immense revenue received by the provincial government for oil and gas developments during the same period.

"There are a great many more items of annual federal expenditures in Alberta, adding up to more than an additional $50 million. I want to refer to some of them.

"For example, the Dominion government is spending considerable able sums in Alberta to help the province improve and extend its education services. In recent times there has been a great deal of agitation in parliament and outside for very extensive federal financial aid for education, but the fact remains that, under the constitution of Canada education is one of the chief direct responsibilities of provincial governments.

"If the provinces decided to surrender their jurisdiction in matters of education, then the government at Ottawa could shoulder the financial load in this field. But at present there appears to be no prospect of unanimous feeling or action by the various provincial authorities on this question.

"With that, then, in mind, does it seem reasonable that any province, with huge annual surpluses should require more aid from the federal treasury than is now being given?

"As it is, the national government is giving practical aid and assistance to Alberta. For example, $250,000 was contributed toward the construction of the new Fairview Agricultural College and an additional $19,000 for the purchase of equipment for this school.

"Other educational institutions in this province helped by federal funds include the agricultural schools at Vermilion and Olds, as well as high schools in Edmonton and Calgary.

"Additional large sums of federal money have promoted the cause of general education in Alberta, through scholarship awards, through yearly grants to universities, through grants to student veterans and through the activities of the National Film Board, in distributing and showing documentaries.

"In the last twelve months over $40 million has been spent out of the federal treasury to finance defence projects in Alberta. In the Edmonton area alone, over 12 million dollars has been expended on army and air force establishments.

"Under the national health program, federal aid is also being extended to each and every province. In Alberta the construction of 32 separate hospital projects has been assisted in the amount of nearly two million dollars.

"During the last two years federal government expenditures on Trans-Canada highway construction in the province of Alberta have amounted to a total of nine and a half million dollars.

"Under the Department of Transport two million dollars was spent last year in Alberta on airport work and other projects.

"Under federal public works the sum of two and a half million dollars was voted for Alberta projects in the same period.

HON. GEORGE PRUDHAM
Alberta's Minister in the Federal Cabinet

"The selection of items I have mentioned in this broadcast is very brief and incomplete. For instance, I had made no reference to federal funds spent on the four national parks located in Alberta, an amount that runs into several million dollars a year. I am listing these expenditures so that you will have a better understanding of how your tax dollars are used.

"Summing up, it is clear from the outline I have given that federal expenditures in Alberta, for useful public purposes, and apart from defence measures, amount to well over one hundred million dollars per year.

"It is also clear that the dominion government is collection agent for approximately one-quarter of the money the provincial government spends. In addition, the federal government pays the forty-dollar-a-month pension for citizens over seventy, without a means test, as well as family allowances, large grants in aid of hospital construction, substantial grants to the university and vocational schools in the province, three quarters of the amount of pensions for the blind and one-half of the amount paid in pensions to Canadians between the ages of 65 and 69. And I should point out that at least 50 per cent of every tax dollar collected in Alberta by the federal government goes for defence purposes.

"In the matter of assisting Alberta hospitals, do you know that the federal treasury contributed $580,000 toward the construction and equipping of the Aberhart Memorial Hospital? In fact, 32 Alberta hospital projects have been aided through federal grants of one thousand dollars per bed. For constitutional reasons these grants are not made directly to hospitals but through the administrative services of the provincial government.

"Because of such measures as I have indicated opportunities have been widened and services in this province extended. Much insecurity, an uncertainty has also been removed from the lives of the people of Alberta as a result of the social welfare program. Because of federal government payments of family allowances, the children of Alberta are better fed, better clothed, better housed and better cared for. Since these children's allowances were introduced, school attendance has increased in every part of the province and Alberta children generally have been given access to better health care than ever before.

"In all these ways, policies put into practical effect by the dominion government have made possibly a better deal and a better future generally for the people of Alberta, and of Canada, from coast to coast."

Not Prejudiced By Death Of Son

VICTORIA—(BUP) — Robert W. Mayhew said he would take up his new post as Canadian Ambassador to Japan "without prejudice" even though his son was killed in the Pacific theatre in World War II.

Mayhew said he "can't forget that my son died in the war against Japan. But I don't blame the Japanese people who are now trying to make amends for the acts of their warlords."

Cheaper Power Needed

By ADA NEWCOMBE

The Stony Plain Rural Electrification Association held its annual meeting in Kelly's Hall on Thursday, Nov. 13, with almost the entire membership present. The president, John Evjen, was in the chair with the secretary, Otto Schatske.

After the president's report on the progress made during the year, a financial statement covering the cost of the construction of the power lines was read by J. S. Anderson. The association's lines cover an area six miles west from the meridian to Beach Corner and south from the highway.

This co-operative was organized on Dec. 1, 1949 with 64 members and now has 103. This increase in membership and good work by the directors has brought a lower cost per member than at first provided for in the estimate of $910.00 and a surplus of $22,743.80 will be returned to the members. This means that the 103 present members have invested in the lines, transformers, etc., $71,222.44.

This association has 64 miles of lines passing through one of the most prosperous sections of the province, yet even here some of the farmers seem unable to assume this initial cost of line construction in addition to the wiring of buildings and the purchase of equipment.

Electricity is of supreme value to farmers, it saves many steps and makes life much more enjoyable and when some feel compelled to pass it up we can be sure there is something tragically lacking.

There are, it is estimated, 140 of these co-operatives in this province with an investment of $12,000,000. They use an average of 240 k.w.h. per farm per month in Manitoba and will likely do about the same here. This means that the 14,000 farmers in Alberta will use annually 44,280,000 k.w.h.

This is big business, yet at the present time all these consumers of power have no say whatever in the price they pay for this power but are subject to the dictates of big power companies who daily talk about free enterprise and warn of public ownership and loss of freedom.

At present the farmers are divided into 140 small co-operatives but have a 12 to 14 million dollars investment in power lines and if united through a central agency would constitute a public utility of great buying and consumptive demand for power.

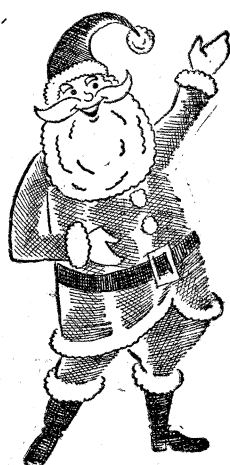

There are a number of power companies which should compete for the business of such a united co-operative at say, 1c or less per k.w.h. if we really have genuine free enterprise. It would be interesting to put it to a test and should not be too difficult considering the government's so evident desire to help.

Verdict On Traffic Death

EDMONTON — A coroner's jury, investigating the death Nov. 4 of Alfred C. Walton, 72, Edmonton, ruled George Hecceg, Edmonton "did not take necessary precautions when approaching an intersection."
